Silk Workers Also Ordered To Join In Textile Strike

(BULLETIN)
INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE
WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—The strike in the great textile industry became general today, affecting all branches. Orders were flashed from Washington shortly before noon for approximately 150,000 silk workers to join with the cotton goods, worsted and woolen and rayon workers, in a general walk-out at 11:30 o'clock tonight.

May Involve 850,000
Union officials estimated that the general strike will eventually involve between 850,000 and 900,000 workers in all branches of the industry.

They estimated that the worsted and woolen plants affected will number 500; the silk and rayon plants, 1,000; and the cotton plants about 1,200.

The silk workers were ordered out in the face of warning from the employers that if they struck, the employers will not be disposed to enter again into contractual relations with the unions.

Walkout Certain

Meanwhile, all government machinery seemed to have broken down. No further efforts were made by the National Labor Relations Board, under the chairmanship of Lloyd Garrison, to end the walkout. In the face of repeated rebuffs from the manufacturers and code authorities, who refused to counsel with union representatives, the board appeared powerless, and its offices today were deserted.

EDWARDS' TRIAL DELAY REFUSED

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Sept. 1.—Judge John S. Fine today refused to postpone the trial of Bobby Edwards for the "American Tragedy" slaying of his sweetheart from the September to November term of criminal court.

Edwards, 21-year-old mining engineer, was indicted on a charge of first degree murder for slaying his neighborhood sweetheart, Freda McKechnie, 26, an expectant mother, while she swam in Harvey's Lake on the night of last July 30.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—In a new roundup of associates of the Dillinger gang of outlaws, seven persons, including a lawyer, have been apprehended in the Chicago area in the last few days. Director J. Edgar Hoover, director of the division of investigation of the department of justice announced today.

Louis P. Piquet, an attorney at law, was arrested last night charged with harboring a fugitive, John Dillinger, recently slain by federal officers in Chicago.

Charge Dillinger Aided

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Louis Piquet, attorney who was to have defended the slain John Dillinger when the desperado was jailed in Crown Point, Ind., last spring, today was arrested and put in jail on a charge of harboring Dillinger.

In addition to jailing Piquet, government agents took into custody an office employee of the lawyer's, two doctors, two women and another man.

The announcement of the arrests was made by Melvin Purvis, chief of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice.

Those seized along with Piquet were: Arthur W. O'Leary, an employee of the lawyer; Drs. William Loeser and Harold Bernard Cassidy; William Finnerity; Ella Finnerity, his wife; and Marie Conforti, reputed sweetheart of the slain Homer Van Meter.

Drs. Loeser and Cassidy are alleged to have been the physicians who performed the face lifting and finger-print obliterating operations upon Dillinger and Van Meter before they were shot to death by officers.

It was a star chamber affair, held under protection of militiamen acting under a "partial martial law" order, from which the press and public were excluded.

The exercises were held in a grove just south of the bridge, with Judge Jas. A. Chambers acting as chairman of the day. Due to the traffic hazard, the exercises were held at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

WATSON, N. J., Sept. 1.—Taking the aggressive in the impending general textile strike, Paterson silk manufacturers today warned their 15,000 employees that never again would they sign a union contract if the silk workers joined the textile walkout.

Under this compact, the workers obligated themselves not to strike unless an industrial labor board, comprised of three employers' and three workers' representatives and headed by an impartial chairman, ruled that 40 per cent of the industry was on strike.

HARRISBURG, Sept. 1.—Striving desperately to avoid a special session of the Legislature, Gov. Gifford Pinchot today offered Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief head, an alternate plan to finance relief in Pennsylvania until the Legislature meets regularly next January.

The governor offered Hopkins $6,000,000 from the state liquor stores and $14,000,000 from the motor license fund.

Says Session Needless

Citing four reasons why he believed a special session was needless, the governor offered the following alternative proposal.

A. Pennsylvania will contribute $6,000,000 in equal monthly installments before January 1, 1935.

B. I will, under existing law, and before January 1, 1935, transfer $14,000,000 from the motor license funds which will come in during November and December, but are not now in the treasury to the general fund.

C. I will then, since the transferred money cannot be used for relief until appropriated, ask the regular session of the legislature which meets on January 1st to appropriate that sum to meet the past obligations of the state for relief, and to provide for returning the $14,000,000 to the motor fund. PRESIDENT WATCHES TEXTILE STRIKE PLANS

No Comment By Chief Executive

Many Important Matters Are Confronting President At Hyde Park

RUMOR DOUGLASS RESIGNS HIS POST

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 1.—President Roosevelt watched carefully today as the textile and cotton garment manufacturing industry approached real labor trouble and a strike, but made no comment.

At the same time the president extended for another thirty days the appointment of Donald R. Richberg as temporary chairman of his two important executive and emergency councils.

Rumors Douglass Quits

And these two developments were only part of the turmoil which touched the ordinarily placid countryside here in which Mr. Roosevelt is maintaining residence. There came here a report that budget director Lewis Douglas has resigned, White House officials, including presidential secretary Col. Marvin H. McIntyre, refused to deny, or affirm, this report. The inference drawn was that for once rumor had hit the nail on the head. Douglas, with Mrs. Douglas was a house guest at the Roosevelt estate on Thursday night and left Hyde Park without seeing reporters.

Reappointment of Richberg was not unexpected. Frank Walker, permanently banding these two posts, is out of Washington on an indefinite furlough. Whether he will come back this fall is a matter of doubt. At the same time, "emperor" reappointment of the erstwhile NRA counsel adds to rather detracts from recently expressed beliefs that Richberg, when the NRA is reorganized, will emerge on top.

Faces Conferences

In addition to all this, the president was faced this week-end with important conferences dealing mainly with drought relief and conditions in the drought areas during the past few days.

Both relief administrator Harry Hopkins and assistant secretary of agriculture Rexford Tugwell were house guests at the Roosevelt home overnight. Today they both had long chats with the president and presented graphic pictures of the conditions obtaining and the methods which they believed should be employed to remedy them.

Besides all these, two new visitors were to come to see the president in his ancestral home here today. They were Arthur Morton, chairman of Tennessee Valley administration, and assistant secretary of the interior Chapman. There was no information available as to what either of these two would discuss with the president. At the same time, their visit came so unexpectedly that it was regarded as mysteriously significant.

There are five airplanes at the New Castle airport and this morning a "Bull-Pup" or single-seater, being flown from Cleveland to Camden, N. J., paid the local airport a visit.

GOVERNOR STILL SEEKS TO AVOID SPECIAL SESSION

ture obligations would naturally be taken care of by the same regular session."

Governor Pinchot's term expires on January 15, 1935, two full weeks and a day after the legislature meets in regular session on New Year's day. A minimum of five legislative days is required to pass a bill in the legislature.

Would Total $20,000,000

The $14,000,000 the governor proposed to take from the motor fund, with the $6,000,000 liquor profits, brings the total state offering to the $20,000,000 appropriated by the 1933 special session for jobless aid.

The governor asked Hopkins to accept this amount as the "reasonable share" he has demanded from the state and add to it sufficient federal funds to prevent suffering among the 300,000 families now on relief.

Reviewing the state's record on unemployment relief which he said compares favorably with any state in the union, the governor asked

Hopkins:

Cracking Down On Pennsylvania

"Then why should the federal government crack down on Pennsylvania which before April 1st of this year contributed substantially one-half of all funds spent for a relief?"

The governor "most sincerely and earnestly" urged Hopkins to accept his plan and continue the flow of federal relief funds into Pennsylvania.

The executive's letter was taken to Hopkins, who is at President Roosevelt's home in Hyde Park, N. Y., this morning by Eric H. Biddle, state emergency relief director.

Biddle departed by airplane from the Pinchot estate at Milford this morning immediately after the final draft of the governor's reply was approved.

Hopkins Insistent

Hopkins, at the New York Relief conference yesterday, insisted that the state "offer some evidence of action" that it was preparing to share the relief burden. Hopkins said convocation of a special session of the legislature would be accepted as such "evidence."

There was no statement accompanying the governor's letter when it was released through the governor's office here. From Milford it was stated that "the letter speaks for itself."

The motor fund today has a balance of approximately $8,000,000 but

November and December motor license fees will swell this total to well beyond the $14,000,000 figure which the governor suggested be utilized for relief.

Governor Pinchot's offer of $6,- 000,000 in liquor store profits confirmed an exclusive International

News Service story of more than a month ago that efforts would be made to avoid a special session by asking the federal government to accept the available liquor profits

as a "reasonable share" of the relief load and that the federal government advance the rest of the cost.

Will Call Session If Necessary

"If the federal government will supply no more relief funds to Pennsylvania unless an extra session is called, I shall be obliged to call one," the governor wrote Hopkins.

"But your letter does not mention an extra session and contains no direct demand for one.

"Before deciding to make such a demand I hope you will give full consideration to the following statements:

"First, if an extra session were called it could produce no immediate cash for relief, here is no unobligated money in the treasury to be appropriated, under our constitution Pennsylvania cannot borrow, and no new form of tax or any extra session might pass (if it passed any) could properly produce available cash within less than sixty days.

Football Of Politics

"Second. An extra session called during the present political campaign would make relief in Pennsylvania the football of politics.

keep relief in Pennsylvania out of politics. It never should be allowed to get into politics.

"Third. The calling of an extra session, against which the people of Pennsylvania are substantially unanimous, could not fail to hurt the cause of relief and to make the problem of securing funds, hitherto difficult enough, far more difficult still.

"Fourth. You asked for action Pennsylvania has already taken action. At the last of three special sessions called to provide relief the legislature appropriated $20,000,000 from the profits of the state liquor stores. But here, as elsewhere, revenues from liquor fell below estimates.

"Nevertheless we can, and we are ready to, contribute $6,000,000 from this source for relief between now and the first of the year, and give time, every cent of the rest."

Funds For One Week

Funds for direct relief are available for one week, the governor pointed out, adding:

"There is therefore, time for consideration."

The governor, after pointing out that this plan once was approved by Hopkins when it could not be "promptly carried out," declared it was time to afford to the honest and intelligent of the General Assembly and the people of Pennsylvania to assume that any such arrangement made between yourself and the governor of the commonwealth, within the sum already appropriated, would not be carried out."

The plan outlined by the governor, he said, would overcome all the difficulties he listed in his letter, explaining:

"By this plan cash in large amounts would be made available without awaiting the issue of the struggle over what form the new taxes should take; relief would be kept out of politics; and any delay in getting the actual cash could not exceed sixty days beyond the time when an extra session could produce an improbable something, and would probably be less than a single month."

Concluding his letter the governor recalled his oft-repeated assertion that Pennsylvania's record on relief financing compares favorably with any other state, and reminded Hopkins that Pennsylvania is a heavy contributor in federal taxes.

RUMOR DOUGLASS
RESIGNS HIS POST

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 1.—President Roosevelt watched carefully today as the textile and cotton garment manufacturing industry approached real labor trouble and a strike, but made no comment.

At the same time the president extended for another thirty days the appointment of Donald R. Richberg as temporary chairman of his two important executive and emergency councils.

RUMORS Douglass Quits

And these two developments were only part of the turmoil which touched the ordinarily placid countryside here in which Mr. Roosevelt is maintaining residence. There came here a report that budget director Lewis Douglas has resigned. White House officials, including presidential secretary Col. Marvin H. McIntyre, refused to deny or affirm, this report. The inference drawn was that for once, rumor had hit the nail on the head. Douglas, with Mrs. Douglas, was a house guest at the Roosevelt estate on Thursday night and left Hyde Park without seeing reporters.

Reappointment of Richberg was not unexpected. Frank Walker, permanently handling these two posts, is out of Washington on an indefinite furlough. Whether he will come back this fall is a matter of doubt. At the same time, temporary reappointment of the erstwhile NRA counsel adds to, rather detracts from, recently expressed beliefs that Richberg, when the NRA is reorganized, will emerge on top.

Faces Conferences

In addition to all this, the president was faced this week-end with important conferences dealing mainly with drought relief and conditions in the drought areas during the past few days.

This dishonest treatment resulted in the Lenape aligning themselves with the French in the subsequent wars with the British. Mr. Sipe said and cost the British many men and probably was the cause of Bradock's army being wiped out. His familiarity with the incidents leading up to the abandonment of Fort Duquesne by the French showed the touch of a scholar and was received by the men and women present with more than ordinary interest.

The name Kus Kie he said meant "The Place of Hogs" and was so called because of conditions among the Indians after they were introduced to the white man's ways. He scored misleading histories that gave the wrong impression of the Indians in Pennsylvania and said that he wanted to show how wrangled they had been by the white men.

Unveil Tablet

Following Mr. Sipe's address the crowd moved up to the bridge where Mrs. Charles Greer, Organizing Representative of the Daughters of American Colonists made the presentation address. She paid a tribute to Mrs. A. T. Eckles, chairman of the committee in charge of the work of getting the tablet and said that the other places of historical interest would be marked later. Boy Scouts from New Castle and West Pittsburg then pulled the sheet from each of the tablets, one on each end of the bridge and Mrs. G. S. Throckmorton, Regent of the Kus Kus Ka Chapter, Daughters of American Colonists, broke a bottle of water over the bridge and formally christened it.

For the State Highway Department G. M. Henrich accepted the bronze tablets and the new name and expressed the appreciation of the department for the interest of the women.

The invocation and benediction at the unveiling were pronounced by Rev. J. A. Henderson, of West Pittsburg, and Boy Scout Alfred Sadler acted as bugler. William Boston and Frederick McCamie two Scouts were garbed as Indians and sat as guardians of the teepee while Mr. Sipe delivered his address. Other Scouts who participated in the exercises were Robert Love, Dick Hamilton, Bill Shira, all of New Castle and Ovid Buchanan, Steve Kos, Albert Beres and Harry Boland all of West Pittsburg.

The bronze tablets are handsome ones and are superimposed on the ends beams of the bridge. The tablets bear the following inscription:

Governor Pinchot's term expires on January 15, 1935, two full weeks and a day after the legislature meets in regular session on New Year's day. A minimum of five legislative days is required to pass a bill in the legislature.

Would Total $20,000,000

The $14,000,000 the governor proposed to take from the motor fund, with the $6,000,000 liquor profits, brings the total state offering to the $20,000,000 appropriated by the 1933 special session for jobless aid.

The governor asked Hopkins to accept this amount as the "reasonable share" he has demanded from the state and add to it sufficient federal funds to prevent suffering among the 300,000 families now on relief.

Reviewing the state's record on unemployment relief which he said compares favorably with any state in the union, the governor asked Hopkins:

Cracking Down On Pennsylvania

"Then why should the federal government crack down on Pennsylvania which before April 1st of this year contributed substantially one-half of all funds spent for relief?"

The governor "most sincerely and earnestly" urged Hopkins to accept his plan and continue the flow of federal relief funds into Pennsylvania.

The executive's letter was taken to Hopkins, who is at President Roosevelt's home in Hyde Park, N. Y., this morning by Eric H. Biddle, state emergency relief director.

Biddle departed by airplane from the Pinchot estate at Millford this morning immediately after the final draft of the governor's reply was approved.

Hopkins Insistent

Hopkins, at the New York Relief conference yesterday, insisted that the state "offer some evidence of action" that it was preparing to share the relief burden. Hopkins said convocation of a special session of the legislature would be accepted as such "evidence."

There was no statement accompanying the governor's letter when it was released through the governor's office here. From Millford it was stated that "the letter speaks for itself."

The motor fund today has a balance of approximately $8,000,000 but November and December motor license fees will swell this total to well beyond the $14,000,000 figure which the governor suggested be utilized for relief.

Governor Pinchot's offer of $6,000,000 in liquor store profits confirmed an exclusive International News Service story of more than a month ago that efforts would be made to avoid a special session by asking the federal government to accept a "reasonable share" of the relief load and that the federal government advance the rest of the cost.

Will Call Session If Necessary

"If the federal government will supply no more relief funds to Pennsylvania unless an extra session is called, I shall be obliged to call one," the governor wrote Hopkins.

"But, your letter does not mention an extra session and contains no direct demand for one."

"Before deciding to make such a demand I hope you will give full consideration to the following statements of fact:

"First, if an extra session were called it could produce no immediate cash for relief, here is no unobligated money in the treasury to be appropriated, under our constitution Pennsylvania cannot borrow, and no new form of tax which an extra session might pass (if it passed any) could properly produce available cash within less than sixty days."

Football Of Politics

"Second, An extra session called during the present political campaign would make relief in Pennsylvania the football of politics."

keep relief in Pennsylvania out of politics. It never should be allowed to get into politics."

"Third, The calling of an extra session, against which the people of Pennsylvania are substantially unanimous, could not fail to hurt the cause of relief and to make the problem of securing funds, hitherto difficult enough, far more difficult still."

"Fourth, You asked for action. Pennsylvania has already taken action. At the last of three special sessions called to provide relief the legislature appropriated $20,000,000 from the profits of the state liquor stores. But here, as elsewhere, revenues from liquor fell below estimates. Nevertheless we can, and we are ready to, contribute $6,000,000 from this source for relief between now and the first of the year, and given time, every cent of the rest."

Funds For One Week

Funds for direct relief are available for one week, the governor pointed out, adding:

"There is, therefore, time for consideration."

The governor, after pointing out that this plan once was approved by Hopkins when it could not be "promptly carried out," declared it would be "an affront to the honor and intelligence of the General Assembly and the people of Pennsylvania to assume that any such arrangement made between yourself and the governor of the commonwealth, within the sum already appropriated, would not be carried out."

The plan outlined by the governor, he said, would overcome all the difficulties he listed in his letter, explaining:

"By this plan cash in large amounts would be made available without awaiting the issue of the struggle over what form the new taxes should take; relief would be kept out of politics; and any delay in getting the actual cash could not exceed sixty days beyond the time when an extra session could produce an improbable something, and would probably be less than a single month."

Concluding his letter the governor recalled his oft-repeated assertion that Pennsylvania's record on relief financing compares favorably with any other state, and reminded Hopkins that Pennsylvania is a heavy contributor in federal taxes.

"With full allowance for all federal contributions since April 1st, not half the states have done as well," the governor said.

He informed councilmen that the sum asked for the building is very small in comparison to the value of the materials that could be used. His statement was borne out by City Engineer Hoskins.

BEAUTIFUL WEDDING IN PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Distinguished by simplicity and beauty was the wedding this afternoon at 4:30 in the First Presbyterian church, of Mary Elizabeth Fankhauser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert B. Fankhauser of 219 Hazelcroft avenue, to the Rev. Raymond Stewart Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Saunders Hall of Lynn, Mass.

The double ring service was performed in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends by the Rev. Walter E. McClure, pastor of the Church of the Covenant at Detroit, Mich., formerly of New Castle.

For the occasion, the altar was banked with ferns and palms combined with gorgeous white gladioli over which tall white cathedral candles shed a soft glow. The kneeling bench was all white, the setting being a most pictureque one.

Preceding and during the ceremony, a lovely program of organ music was rendered by Thomas W. Weber, church organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was beautiful in her weddng gown of traditional white satin, princess style, with a cowl neckline. The "off the face" cap of her wedding veil was fashioned of Duchesse lace from her mother's weddng gown. Her shower bouquet was of white gardenias, lilies of the valley and maiden hair fern.

Miss Alma Lowe Fankhauser, appeared as bridesmaid, appeared in shell pink organdie with harmonizing hat, and carried Briarcliff roses.

Donald Rose served as best man and William Patterson, a brother of the bride, ushered.

The program of beautiful and familiar nuptial melodies was played by Miss Elizabeth Rose, a sister of the groom.

At the reception, following, the bride's mother was costumed in modish uncut velvet with a corsage of white gardenias. The groom's mother wore black velvet with a gardenia corsage.

At the wedding breakfast, the bride's table was centered with a large mound of vari-colored roses combined with smaller garden flowers. Guests were seated at several small tables centered with rosebuds, the appointments predominating in pink and white.

Among the out of town guests were Rev. and Mrs. Harry Rose of Akron; Mr. and Mrs. Parker Rose, East Palestine.

The new Mrs. Rose formerly resided in New Castle. She is a graduate of Harcum Preparatory School at Bryn Mawr and of Pennsylvania College for Women, class 1934.

Mr. Rose was graduated from New Wilmington High School and was a member of the 1933 class of Westminster college. He is now attending Pitt-Xenia Seminary at Pittsburgh, the young couple planning to reside in Pittsburgh this coming winter.

PATTERSON-ROSE WEDDING AT HOME

The beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus C. Patterson, near New Wilmington, was the scene of the first September wedding of social prominence this morning at 11:30 o'clock, when their daughter, Charlotte, became the bride of John Calvin Rose, son of Dr. and Mrs. Harry J. Rose of New Wilmington.

Sixty guests, immediate families and intimate friends, witnessed the exchange of vows in the drawing room, the service being read by the groom's father, Dr. Harry J. Rose, before an embankment of colorful gladioli, roses and chrysanthemums, intermingled with ferns and palms.

Chic simplicity characterized the bride's gown, which was of white organdie, empire style, slipper length, and her veil was long, falling from a cap of rose point lace, which has been a family heirloom for a number of years. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses, gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Miss Ann Patterson, younger sister of the bride, was maid of honor, wearing delicate green satin and a large brimmed hat to match. She carried an arm bouquet of Talsman roses.

Miss Jane Hawkins, of Moody avenue, as bridesmaid, appeared in shell pink organdie with harmonizing hat, and carried Briarcliff roses.

Donald Rose served as best man and William Patterson, a brother of the bride, ushered.

The program of beautiful and familiar nuptial melodies was played by Miss Elizabeth Rose, a sister of the groom.

The couple will be attended by Miss Mary Elizabeth Suber as bridesmaid, and Thomas Maher as best man.

It is interesting to note that the total age of Mrs. McCoy and her four sons is 348 years. She is one of the oldest residents of this district, still making patch quilts and enjoying automobile rides.

During her life time, she has witnessed great changes in world progress and is greatly interested in present day events.

LABOR DAY

LABOR DAY was originally established to direct attention to the problems growing out of our industrial life. It was intended as a time when questions which the country's workers had to solve should receive public attention. For many years this side of the day has not been prominent. The holiday has become a nation-wide festival, the main purpose of which is to give every one a good time and a chance for happy outings.

Still, we should not lose sight of the original purpose of the day. We need to think on Labor Day of 1934, of what can be done to provide the opportunity of labor for everyone.

Labor is not a curse, as some have dreamed. It is rather a blessing, and an essential of life. It is not merely that we need to labor at something to provide our daily bread. Even if a person is wealthy and does not need to labor for pecuniary reasons, such a person, if physically able to work, suffers some loss if he or she does not have some regular task on which the energy of body and mind can be usefully employed.

Abnormal industrial and financial conditions have arisen which deny to many people the opportunity to labor. Not merely have they become unable to support themselves, but a severe strain of anxiety is placed upon them, and many have weakened under that deplorable trial.

It is the nation's first thought at this time, how we can so amend our industrial system that these periods of unemployment shall not recur. It must be possible in some way to provide work for every willing worker. Our civilization is defective if it falls down at this point. It is not an insoluble problem. The American people have accomplished greater things than this. This objective on which they have set their hearts, will in some way be accomplished.

AN AUSPICIOUS ROYAL MARRIAGE

The King and Queen of England have announced "with the greatest pleasure" the betrothal of Prince George to Princess Marina of Greece.

The pleasure will be shared by the English people.

It is not merely an affair of State, as many royal marriages have been. The Prince and Princess have known each other for five years, and their friendship has been sufficiently marked to lead to rumors of romance that persisted in spite of denials. Apparently they fell in love after the customary manner of youth. That they have many tastes in common is another reason to anticipate that the match will be a happy one.

In spite of the efforts of the Georges and of Queen Victoria to establish a sort of royal caste in England, there has not been for years a sharp social gulf between throne and nation. Even George IV married a commoner though secretly. In recent years the royal family has become increasingly democratic, mingling freely with all sorts and conditions of men. Marina is a cousin of the last King to sit upon the throne of Greece, but there is no dynastic significance in the coming marriage. International politics depend less and less upon such conditions.

Probably Prince George's engagement will again raise the question of the marriage of the Prince of Wales, who at forty may fairly be called a confirmed bachelor. None of the many rumors about his intentions has ever been verified. After him the Duke of York is heir to the throne, and his elder daughter, the charming little Princess Elizabeth, may yet become Queen Elizabeth. But this is looking too far into the seeds of time. In any event, the House of Windsor is not in the least likely to die out.

GET THEM ALL

It is not alone gangsters who must be killed or imprisoned if crime is to be materially reduced. Their equally guilty partners who move in circles of respectability also must be dealt with effectively.

Fresh light on conditions that make possible crime on a large scale was given by C. Ray Hansen, former prosecuting attorney of Cook county, Ill., in a speech in Chicago. John Dillinger, he asserted, paid $1,000 a week for police protection, the money being delivered to a police captain, presumably for division among those who had promised the desperado protection. The speaker did not name the police captain, but indicated he could do this.

If Mr. Hansen has evidence to support the statements he made in his Chicago speech it would seem to be his duty as a law-abiding citizen to place it in the hands of the proper authorities and to assist the latter in bringing to justice the recipients of Dillinger's protection money. They probably are receiving payments from other gangsters.

The Chicago underworld works hand in hand with crooked politicians long has been known. Some efforts to correct the condition have been made, but apparently a clean-up has not been affected.

A similar situation, varying only in degree, exists in many other cities. This must be corrected if life and property again are to become reasonably secure in the United States.

WELL DONE

The army bombers, back from their Alaskan flight, performed a difficult feat and one not unattended by hazards, in a manner highly creditable to their crews as well as to the army air corps as a whole.

The main purpose of their flight was to photograph some of the wildest territory within the borders of the United States. In three days, they photographed 20,000 square miles. The mapping of this area by land crews would have required months.

Lieut. Col. H. H. Arnold, commander of the flight, and the officers and men who made up the bombers' crews are deserving of congratulations for the way they performed their work.

Open sevens are a thing of the past and you see nothing like that exposed except on some newsstands.

DEATH IN THE FAMILY

Those friends who came with help and comfort are gone. They did what they could, knowing it was pitifully little, but they came and they did things, and they spoke the little words that are so futile but mean so much in memory's book... All the busyness, all the sad details are finished. The minister who spoke those rich words of the funeral service has said goodbye and gone his way, too... Only the family is here in this quiet house. Almost relieved in their numb bereavement, glad to be alone at last.

It seems so strange that one who was so vital will never walk through these rooms again. There he sat and there he hung his coat when he came in from his work; that's his pipe over there on the desk, and in the front room by the window is the bed where he so serenely died... It is better not to be thinking of such things. Better to busy oneself with the necessary demands of the living that remains to be done... He would not wish his family to sit here alone and grieve too hopelessly. He was never like that himself. He took life bravely and stood straight against its blows. That man who is gone.

One should eat, perhaps. But no one wishes food. They say it would choke. And yet they MUST eat something. They will feel better if they do... So they prepare a meal and sit around the table and say casual things and each tries in his own way to be cheerful and to comfort the others... And sitting together like this they do come closer to each other. They are friends as well as members of the same family. Their interests unite, their lives become one. That one whom they have lost has brought them together again... They feel stronger, somehow, than they have felt for many a day. And they will do what he told them. He said they must stay together and love each other and remember how much he had loved them and how proud he was of them, and how much he expected of them. He did not wish to bind them, he said. He wished to help them but wished them, too, to be themselves... How glad they were that he had not died before he was able to say goodbye to them all and clasp their hands. It was a comfort even then, in the bitterness of their grief, to remember how calm he had been, how free from arrogant bravado in his dying... They would not weep, they would not display their grief. They would open the doors, pull up the shades, open wide the windows and let the good sun shine into a house where there was no more Death.

THINK BEFORE YOU SPEAK.

You admire the person who is well poised.

You realize that some of your actions and conversation indicate that you are not always in command of yourself.

You do and say foolish things. Later you are ashamed of your words and actions and wonder at yourself.

You excuse yourself in the thought that those with you realize that you really possess more brains than your actions and words indicate.

But this is a poor excuse, for you are judged by what you do and say in all circumstances, and not only in your self-controlled moments.

You are not controlled mentally. In all conditions—only a drug addict could find excuse for some of your foolishness.

You have allowed your mind to get the habit of wandering.

This is difficult to overcome and only concentration and determination to speak or act until the matter has your undivided thought will give you the poise you admire.

But you can't do this while you allow your tongue to wag, even though you have nothing worth saying.

Soon 1,000 Buddhist apostles will leave India on a missionary pilgrimage, their object being to convert the world to the Buddhist faith. One of the twelve monks who will lead the expedition will be Lecanara Bhikku, who is Italian born, educated in New York, but later espoused the Buddhist faith.

The first country to be visited is Italy. From Rome they expect to spread to all parts of the civilized world, including the United States.

One of the chief doctrines they will teach is vegetarianism. "Westerners make graveyards of themselves on account of the innocent animals they kill and eat," the monk Bhikku declared in outlining plans for their pilgrimage.

It was intended as a time when questions which the country's workers had to solve should receive public attention. For many years this side of the day has not been prominent. The holiday has become a nation wide festival, the main purpose of which is to give every one a good time and a chance for happy outings.

Still, we should not lose sight of the original purpose of the day. We need to think on Labor Day of 1934, of what can be done to provide the opportunity of labor for everyone.

Labor is not a curse, as some have dreamed. It is rather a blessing, and an essential of life. It is not merely that we need to labor at something to provide our daily bread. Even if a person is wealthy and does not need to labor for pecuniary reasons, such a person, if physically able to work, suffers some loss if he or she does not have some regular task on which the energy of body and mind can be usefully employed.

Abnormal industrial and financial conditions have arisen which deny to many people the opportunity to labor. Not merely have they become unable to support themselves, but a severe strain of anxiety is placed upon them, and many have weakened under that deplorable trial.

It is the nation's first thought at this time, how we can so amend our industrial system that these periods of unemployment shall not recur. It must be possible in some way to provide work for every willing worker. Our civilization is defective if it falls down at this point. It is not an insoluble problem. The American people have accomplished greater things than this. This objective on which they have set their hearts, will in some way be accomplished.

AN AUSPICIOUS ROYAL MARRIAGE

The King and Queen of England have announced "with the greatest pleasure" the betrothal of Prince George to Princess Marina of Greece.

The pleasure will be shared by the English people.

It is not merely an affair of State, as many royal marriages have been. The Prince and Princess have known each other for five years, and their friendship has been sufficiently marked to lead to rumors of romance that persisted in spite of denials. Apparently they fell in love after the customary manner of youth. That they have many tastes in common is another reason to anticipate that the match will be a happy one.

In spite of the efforts of the Georges and of Queen Victoria to establish a sort of royal caste in England, there has not been for years a sharp social gulf between throne and nation. Even George IV married a commoner, though secretly. In recent years the royal family has become increasingly democratic, mingling freely with all sorts and conditions of men. Marina is a cousin of the last King to sit upon the throne of Greece, but there is no dynastic significance in the coming marriage. International politics depend less and less upon such conditions.

Probably Prince George's engagement will again raise the question of the marriage of the Prince of Wales, who at forty may fairly be called a confirmed bachelor. None of the many rumors about his intentions has ever been verified. After him the Duke of York is heir to the throne, and his elder daughter, the charming little Princess Elizabeth, may yet become Queen Elizabeth. But this is looking too far into the seeds of time. In any event, the House of Windsor is not in the least likely to die out.

GET THEM ALL

It is not alone gangsters who must be killed or imprisoned if crime is to be materially reduced. Their equally guilty partners who move in circles of respectability also must be dealt with effectively.

Fresh light on conditions that make possible crime on a large scale was given by C. Ray Hansen, former prosecuting attorney of Cook county, Ill., in a speech in Chicago. John Dillingham, he asserted, paid $1,000 a week for police protection, the money being delivered to a police captain, presumably for division among those who had promised the desperado protection. The speaker did not name the police captain, but indicated he could do this.

Of equal interest was his recitation of incidents taken from his own personal experience. While serving as prosecutor, he said, money bribes ranging from $5,000 to $30,000 had been offered him. Another of too the form of a trip to Europe with all expenses paid.

Mr. Hansen apparently failed to reveal to his audience what efforts he made, if any, to prosecute the would-be bribees.

If Mr. Hansen has evidence to support the statements he made in his Chicago speech it would seem to be his duty as a law-abiding citizen to place it in the hands of the proper authorities and to assist the latter in bringing to justice the recipients of Dillingham's protection money. They probably are receiving payments from other gangsters.

That the Chicago underworld works hand in hand with crooked politicians long has been known. Some efforts to correct the condition have been made, but apparently a clean-up has not been affected.

A similar situation, varying only in degree, exists in many other cities. This must be corrected if life and property again are to become reasonably secure in the United States.

WELL DONE

The army bombers, back from their Alaskan flight, performed a difficult feat and one not unattended by hazards, in a manner highly creditable to their crews as well as to the army air corps as a whole.

The main purpose of their flight was to photograph some of the wildest territory within the borders of the United States. In three days, they photographed 20,000 square miles. The mapping of this area by land crews would have required months.

Lieut. Col. H. H. Arnold, commander of the flight, and the officers and men who made up the bombers' crews are deserving of congratulations for the way they performed their work.

Open sewers are a thing of the past and you see nothing like that exposed except on some newsstands.

DEATH IN THE FAMILY

Those friends who came with help and comfort are gone. They did what they could, knowing it was pitifully little, but they came and they did things, and they spoke the little words that are so futile but mean so much in memory's book... All the busyness, all the sad details are finished. The minister who spoke has said goodby and gone his way, too.... Only the family is here in this quiet house. Almost relieved in their numb bereavement, glad to be alone at last.

It seems so strange that one who was so vital will never walk through these rooms again. There he sat and there he hung his coat when he came in from his work; that his pipe over there on the desk, and in the front room by the window is the bed where he so serenely died... It is better not to be thinking of such things. Better to busy oneself with the necessary demands of the living that remains to be done... He would not wish his family to sit here alone and grieve too hopelessly. He was never like himself. He took life bravely and stood straight against its blows. That man who is gone.

One should eat, perhaps. But no wishes food. They say it would choke. And yet they MUST eat something. They will feel better if they do... So they prepare a meal and sit around the table and say casual things and each tries in his own way to be cheerful and to comfort the others. And sitting together like this they do come closer to each other. They are friends as well as members of the same family. Their interests unite, their lives become one. That one whom they have lost has brought them together again... They feel stronger, somehow, than they have felt for many a day. And they will do what he told them. He said they must stay together and love each other and remember how much he had loved them and how proud he was of them and how much he expected of them. He did not wish to bind them, he said. He wished to help them but he wished them, too, to be themselves... How glad they were that he had not died before he was able to say goodby to them all and clasp their hands. It was a comfort even then, in the bitterness of their grief, to remember how calm he had been, how free from arrogant bravery in his dying... They would not weep, they would not display their grief. They would open the doors, pull up the shades, open wide the windows and let the good sun shine into a house where there was no more death.

It is the nation's first thought at this time, how we can so amend our industrial system that these periods of unemployment shall not recur. It must be possible in some way to provide work for every willing worker. Our civilization is defective if it falls down at this point. It is not an insoluble problem. The American people have accomplished greater things than this. This objective on which they have set their hearts, will in some way be accomplished.

ROCK ME TO SLEEP

Backward, turn backward, O time, in your flight.

Make me a child again, just for tonight!

Mother, come back from the echoless shore—

Take me again to your heart as of yore.

Kiss from my forehead the furrows of care.

Smooth the few silver threads out of my hair;

Over my slumbers your loving watch keep;

Rock me to sleep, mother,—rock me to sleep!

Backward, flow backward, O tide of the years!

I am so weary of toil and of tears; Toll without recompense, tears all in vain;

Take them, and give me my childhood again!

I have grown weary of dust and decay.

Weary of flinging my soul wealth away;

Weary of sowing for others to reap;

Rock me to sleep, mother,—rock me to sleep!

Tired of the hollow, the base, the untrue.

Mother, O mother, my heart calls for you!

Many a summer the grass has grown green,

Blossomed and faded, our faces between.

Yet with strong yearning and passionate pain,

Long I tonight for your presence again.

Come from the silence so long and so deep;

Rock me to sleep, mother,—rock me to sleep!

Over my heart in the days that are known,

No love like mother love ever has shone;

No other worship abides and endures,

Faithful, unselfish and patient like yours.

None like a mother can charm away pain

From the sick soul and the world-weary brain.

Slumber's soft calms o'er my heavy lids sleep;

Rock me to sleep, mother,—rock me to sleep!

Come, let your brown hair, just lighted with gold,

Fall on your shoulders again, as of old;

Let it drop over my forehead to night,

Shading my faint eyes away from the light.

For with its sunny edged shadows once more,

Happily will throng the sweet visions of yore;

Lovingly, softly, its bright billows sweep;

Rock me to sleep, mother

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

ADEQUATE LIME NEEDED FOR SUCCESSIVE LEGUMES

According to the estimate of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, 56% of the farms in Lawrence County used some lime in 1932. The average number of tons used per farm however, seems to be only 5.75 tons.

Unless there is a continued increase in the amount of lime used, clover failures will become more and more prevalent because of increased acidity of the soil. Alfalfa acreage can not increase profitably unless more farmers use lime and apply it more liberally.

According to estimates the total expenditure for fertilizer in Lawrence County in 1932 was $43,200; while only $21,30 were expended for lime. Fertilizer usually is a profitable investment, but it can not take the place of lime. On the average farm the expenditures for lime should at least approach if not equal the amount spent for fertilizer.

Guess work need not enter the question of whether lime is required or not. A soil test can be applied to any sample of soil which will show whether lime is needed and the amount of the requirement to sweeten the acidity.

A small sample should be taken from a half dozen or more places in the field and mixed so as to make a representative sample. Approximately one-half pint of this mixture can be left at the Agricultural Extension Association office for a test. Now is the time to attend to the liming of wheat ground if clover or alfalfa sown next spring is to succeed.

FINISHING FEED FITS LAMBS TO MARKET

One-third of a shipment of lambs sent to Pittsburgh recently by one of the county cooperative sheep and wool growers' associations sold at $2.25 a hundred pounds less than the top price. If these lambs had received some grain for about four weeks longer, their value would have been closer to the top grade, making a very profitable return for the grain fed.

Approximately 50 per cent of the Lawrence County lamb crop will start to market within the next two months. Growers who want maximum returns from their crops will have to put those lambs on the market in finished condition. This means that some grain should be fed to supplement the pasture. The farmer who depends upon permanent pasture alone to finish his lamb crop is making a serious mistake, as his pay check will show.

The following grain mixture has proved satisfactory for finishing lambs on grass: 8 parts of corn, 2 parts of bran, and 1 part of linseed oil cake. Feeding of this mixture should start slowly with a quarter of a pound a lamb each day. At the end of the first two weeks each lamb should be eating from three-fourths to one pound a day.

GROW NEW PLANTS IN CLEAN BERRY PATCHES

Lawrence County farmers interested in growing their own raspberry plants in patches free from disease are informed that the season for taking the initial steps in this process is rapidly approaching.

Satisfactory conditions for tipping usually arrive in most sections of the state from August 20 to the middle of September. Then the tips of the raspberry canes taken on definite characteristics varying decidedly from the normal growth of the canes. The canes become slightly thickened or club-like, take on a reddish color, the leaves gradually disappear, and rootlike projections appear.

When this happens the tips of the canes are ready to be buried. If the tips are buried before they are ready, the canes are likely to continue growth and the tips will be forced out of the ground without development of a root system.

Several different methods may be used in burying the tips but the most satisfactory involves the use of the spade, trowel, or small garden hoe. When the hoe is used a small hole about 4 or 5 inches deep is made near the plant row.

The tip of the cane then is placed in the bottom of the hole, the soil replaced and rammed with the foot.

When the spade or trowel is used the tool is forced into the ground, pushed to one side, the tip of the cane inserted in the opening, the tool removed, and the soil firmed with the foot. The tip of the cane must be completely covered with 4 or 5 inches of soil in order to insure the development of a good root system.

SOILING CAUSES LOSS OF QUALITY IN EGGS

Make an effort to produce as few soiled eggs as possible. Soiled or dirty eggs do not appeal to the buyer and then, too, their interior quality may be impaired by bacterial infection.

The contents of the egg also may absorb odors from the foreign material on the egg shell. Where the numbers of soiled eggs has been excessive, the following suggestions may help to solve the problem: have one nest for every five hens. Gather the eggs three times daily. Use shavings for nesting material. Confine the birds at least until late afternoon. Cover the dropping boards with wire. Use clean, dry litter on the floors. Provide narrow lighting boards in front of the nests. Locate the nests at a distance from the hen exit doors.

A few soiled eggs always will be produced. These should be cleaned as promptly and carefully as possible. Removing the foreign material from the shell with a knife, steel wool, or some other abrasive material, and then using a damp cloth to wipe clean the soiled area is recommended.

PICK FLY-FREE DATES FOR WHEAT PLANTING

Hessian fly infestation has increased slightly in Lawrence County during the past year. This condition has existed for several years, although in some sections the actual amount of damage has not been serious.

Recommendations of the extension entomologist of the Pennsylvania State College call for the planting of wheat during the fly-free dates, which have been established for a period of years. Some farmers prefer to plant wheat in late August or early September. Such field usually develop heavy stands of plants in the fall, but they catch the maturing flies which lay their eggs on the leaves.

Experiments conducted by the Bureau of Entomology of the United States Department of Agriculture resulted in the recommended plan of planting late in September or in October. This system over a quarter of a century or more has proved its value in eliminating damage.

On account of the increase in wheat infestation last spring, Lawrence County farmers are urged to give special attention to the recommended practice of Hessian fly control. The fly-free date for this county is September 26.

The vogue for suits will continue during the autumn, say stylists. Ordering a skirt to match your coat, be it a tailored sports model or a more dressy fur trimmed wrap, is smart for autumn.

Plan For Recreation At Slippery Rock

SLIPPERY ROCK, Sept. 1.—An announcement was made today by Dr. Charles S. Miller, president of the local State Teachers college, that trained college leaders would be available for a program of community recreation during the fall and winter months.

The program which will carry with it classes in physical education, swimming, nature study and flower gardening will be extended to the immediate district surrounding Slippery Rock and the State Teachers college. Student instructors under the direction of professors of the Health Education and Science departments of the college will carry out the program which has been made possible by the Federal Emergency Relief association.

Archie Dodds, head of the physical education work at the State Teachers college, has announced a complete program of adult recreation for Slippery Rock and the surrounding communities. Gym classes will be held two nights a week for both men and women with the same number of classes for general and beginning swimmers. Mr. Dodds has announced that instructors will be available for nearby communities with suitable halls such as Plain-grove, Harlansburg, Harrisville and others if they wish to set up such a program.

Dr. R. A. Waldron of the Science department will head the nature study and flower gardening work. It is planned to hold a community flower show in Slippery Rock and invite the entire district to compete in the affair. Suitable prizes will be awarded by Slippery Rock merchants and along with it many discussions and talks will be made by school leaders at evening sessions of the three-day event.

Farmers Warned Against Buying Unvaccinated Hogs

To Take Vigorous Action Against Smuggling Of Hogs From Ohio

HARRISBURG, Sept. 1.—Outbreaks of hog cholera in the western counties of the state have prompted the bureau of animal industry, Pennsylvania department of agriculture, to take vigorous action to stop the "smuggling" of unvaccinated hogs into this commonwealth from Ohio.

Importation into this state of hogs (other than for immediate slaughter) not vaccinated against hog cholera is a direct violation of Pennsylvania law, and every possible effort will be made to prosecute the offender and stop the practice, officials of the bureau assert.

Dealers who buy unvaccinated hogs from community sales in Ohio and sell them to Pennsylvania farmers are the most frequent violators of the Pennsylvania law although many farmers are also involved, the investigator's report.

"It is unfortunate that farmers in whose interest the hog cholera regulations were adopted, should disregard this legal protection even to the extent of directly violating it themselves, and then suffer heavy financial loss from the resulting outbreaks of the disease," officials point out.

Inspectors have been assigned to the Ohio border to carefully check the movement of hogs in Pennsylvania and to take immediate action against all parties found importing hogs other than for immediate slaughter, which do not have proper hog cholera vaccination credentials.

Governor's Committee Again Urges Necessity For Care

HARRISBURG, Sept. 1.—The Governor's committee on Street and Highway Safety today appealed to motorists to start "Accident Reduction Month," by exercising unusual care in driving over the Labor Day holiday period.

Noting that September has been dedicated to this objective and is the first of three months of sustained highway safety campaigns, the committee said:

"Labor Day, perennially a day in which highway accidents are at a peak, is an ideal time for each motorist to begin active participation in the new drive to restore safety to Pennsylvania roads. Thousands of persons, enjoying a few days of relaxation away from their everyday jobs, will be on the highways. With them will mingle tourists returning from long vacation trips and the always-heavy flow of weekend drivers."

The resulting congested traffic conditions on all main arteries of travel will place a particularly high premium on safe driving. Under such conditions the motorist who values his life and the lives of his passengers as well as the car he is driving, cannot afford to take chances.

For full benefits of the holiday, speed determined by road and traffic conditions, same driving practices and courtesy toward other motorists is necessary. The post-Labor Day activity in hospital and undertaking establishments will be considerably reduced if this policy is followed."

Yesterday was pay day for county officials and employees at the court house. The pay envelopes are made up in the office of County Treasurer William O. Pitts. The pay for the past two weeks amounted to $495 in the poor department and $3,863.90 in other departments.

An appeal from the decision of Alderman O. H. P. Green has been filed at the prothonotary's office in the case of Russell Graves against Alexander Phillips, trading as the Phillips Used Car Exchange. Judgment of the alderman, from which the appeal is taken, in favor of plaintiff, was for $50.

County Treasurer William O. Pitts reports that payments of mercantile licenses have been coming in quite rapidly during the past ten days, at the beginning of which there were about seven hundred that had not been paid. More than two thirds of these have since been paid. All are supposed to be paid by September 1.

Ordinarily the county tax duplicate would be placed in the hands of collectors on September 1, but by resolution of the county commissioners, the time has been extended for ninety days, which will make the date about Oct. 1. County taxes can therefore be paid at face at the county treasurer's office until that date.

The Universal Credit Company has filed a writ of replevin at the prothonotary's office against Donald R. Painter, to secure possession of a three fourth ton truck, the value of which is placed at $300.

The Equitable Building and Loan Association has filed an action in ejectment against John E. Linn and Ethel Linn to secure possession of a property on the Edgewood plan, Shenango township, on which it is alleged that there is $41 rent due.

A session of court will be held on Tuesday at which motions and petitions may be presented.

While County Treasurer Wm. O. Pitts has received the hunter's license tags from the Western penitentiary, the issuing of licenses has been held up by the failure of the state printing department at Harrisburg to furnish the printed slips that are to go with the tags. These slips are for name, occupation and other data regarding the person who secures a license. According to word received from the department supplies have only been furnished to fourteen counties of the state. It may be a week or ten days before Lawrence county's supply is received. Just why the department is so far behind is not apparent.

Subpoenas in divorce have been served in the case of Frances Belle Day against Chester S. Day. The application was made on the grounds of cruelty.

The Haney Furniture Company has filed a writ in replevin at the prothonotary's office against Harold W. Critchlow, to secure possession of some furniture.

Kin Of Soldiers Meet In Reunion

Outing Draws Families Of Famed Civil War Unit To Yohe Camp

That historic charge at Fredericksburg and many other battles and skirmishes of the Civil War days were lived anew in memory Wednesday when a patriotic group of old-timers sons and daughters of the soldiers of Company B, 134th Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry and friends, held another of the famed reunions at Yohe Camp near the J. Bert Studebaker farm on the Slippery Rock creek, near Elliott's Mills.

These reunions have been held from year to year for over 30 years but none surpassed yesterday's for good old fashioned reminiscing. The day was ideal and attracted a large crowd.

At noon a dinner was served which delighted the appetite of all and helped in the spread of good cheer which prevailed through the day.

J. Bert Studebaker, the president of the Company B reunion association, and his aides furnished the kind of hospitality that sent every one home feeling the days aren't made quite long enough.

No survivor of Company B was present. However guests came from far and near bringing new stories of the hectic days of the Civil War period. Company B's famous charge along with the regiment of which it formed a part came at Fredericksburg, December 13, 1862, although it took part in other battles and skirmishes during the days of its service.

After hearing the speakers, Commandant D. M. Clark of the Lawrence County C. A. R. Post 100; R. E. Wilson, another Civil War soldier and J. Bert Studebaker who related as to his visit to the Gettysburg battlefield and coming in contact with both Civil War soldiers and confederate soldiers who were in Pickett's charge and giving sketches of their experiences.

The guests for the day, in addition to speakers mentioned included Miss Laura Stevenson for many years secretary of the 100th Reg. P. V. I. Assn. and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Heasley and Miss Janet Patterson all of New Castle, Pa.

Other soldiers present were Robert Taggart, Spanish-American War veteran; Chancy Flack, R. D. I. Ellwood City; Howard Heckathorn, Beaver Falls, and George W. Stevenson, New Castle, World War veterans.

The program ended with the election of Robert Stoner, president, and Col. W. W. Stevenson, as secretary-treasurer. As a special entertainment committee Mrs. Russell Munnell, Mrs. Eunice Powers Boston and Miss Elizabeth Eakin were named for the coming year.

Plans will be on the forward move for next year's reunion.

On Court House Hill

Yesterday was pay day for county officials and employees at the court house. The pay envelopes are made up in the office of County Treasurer William C. Pitts. The pay for the past two weeks amounted to $495 in the poor department and $3,863.90 in other departments.

An appeal from the decision of Alderman O. H. P. Green has been filed at the prothonotary's office in the case of Russell Graves against Alexander Phillips, trading as the Phillips Used Car Exchange. Judgment of the alderman, from which the appeal is taken, in favor of plaintiff, was for $50.

County Treasurer William C. Pitts reports that payments of mercantile license have been coming in quite rapidly during the past ten days, at the beginning of which there were about seven hundred that had not been paid. More than two thirds of these have since been paid. All are supposed to be paid by September 1.

Ordinarily the county tax duplicate would be placed in the hands of collectors on September 1, but by resolution of the county commissioners, the time has been extended for ninety days, which will make the date about Dec. 1. County taxes can therefore be paid at face at the county treasurer's office until that date.

The Universal Credit Company has filed a writ of replevin at the prothonotary's office against Donald R. Painter, to secure possession of a three fourth ton truck, the value of which is placed at $300.

The Equitable Building and Loan Association has filed an action in ejectment against John E. Linn and Ethel Linn to secure possession of a property on the Edgewood plan, Shenango township, on which it is alleged that there is $41 rent due.

A session of court will be held on Tuesday at which motions and petitions may be presented.

While County Treasurer Wm. O. Pitts has received the hunter's license tags from the Western penitentiary, the issuing of licenses has been held up by the failure of the state printing department at Harrisburg to furnish the printed slips that are to go with the tags. These slips are for name, occupation and other data regarding the person who secures a license. According to word received from the department supplies have only been furnished to fourteen counties of the state. It may be a week or ten days before Lawrence county's supply is received. Just why the department is so far behind is not apparent.

All the offices in the court house will be closed on next Monday, Labor Day.

HITPlan For Recreation
At Slippery Rock

SLIPPERY ROCK, Sept. 1.—Announcement was made today by Dr. Charles S. Miller, president of the local State Teachers college, that trained college leaders would be available for a program of community recreation during the fall and winter months.

The program which will carry with it classes in physical education, swimming, nature study and flower gardening will be extended to the immediate district surrounding Slippery Rock and the State Teachers college.

Student instructors under the direction of professors of the Health Education and Science departments of the college will carry out the program which has been made possible by the Federal Emergency Relief association.

Archie Dodds, head of the physical education work at the State Teachers college, has announced a complete program of adult recreation for Slippery Rock and the surrounding communities. Gym classes will be held two nights a week for both men and women with the same number of classes for general and beginning swimmers. Mr. Dodds has announced that instructors will be available for nearby communities with suitable halls such as Plain-grove, Harlansburg, Harrisville and others if they wish to setup such a program.

Dr. R. A. Waldron of the Science department will head the nature study and flower gardening work. It is planned to hold a community flower show in Slippery Rock and invite the entire district to compete in the affair. Suitable prizes will be awarded by Slippery Rock merchants and along with many discussions and talks will be made by school leaders at evening sessions of the three-day event.

Farmers Warned Against Buying
Unvaccinated Hogs

To Take Vigorous Action Against Smuggling Of
Hogs From Ohio

HARRISBURG, Sept. 1.—Outbreaks of hog cholera in the western counties of the state have prompted the bureau of animal industry, Pennsylvania department of agriculture, to take vigorous action to stop the "smuggling" of unvaccinated hogs into this commonwealth from Ohio.

Importation into this state of hogs (other than for immediate slaughter) not vaccinated against hog cholera is a direct violation of Pennsylvania law, and every possible effort will be made to prosecute the offender and stop the practice, officials of the bureau assert.

Dealers who buy unvaccinated hogs from community sales in Ohio and sell them to Pennsylvania farmers are the most frequent violators of the Pennsylvania law although many farmers are also involved, the investigators report.

"It is unfortunate that the hog cholera regulations were adopted, should disregard this legal protection even to the extent of directly violating it themselves, and then suffer heavy financial loss from the resulting outbreaks of the disease," officials point out.

Inspectors have been assigned to the Ohio border to carefully check the movement of hogs in Pennsylvania and to take immediate action against all parties found importing hogs, other than for immediate slaughter, which do not have proper hog cholera vaccination credentials.

Governor's Committee Again
Urges Necessity
For Care

HARRISBURG, Sept. 1.—The Governor's committee on Street and Highway Safety today appealed to motorists to start "Accident Reduction Month," by exercising unusual care in driving over the Labor Day holiday period.

Noting that September has been dedicated to this objective and is the first of three months of sustained highway safety campaigns, the committee said:

"Labor Day, perennially a day in which highway accidents are at a peak, is an ideal time for each motorist to begin active participation in the new drive to restore safety to Pennsylvania roads. Thousands of persons, enjoying a few days of relaxation away from their everyday jobs, will be on the highways. With them will mingle tourists returning from long vacation trips and the always-heavy flow of weekend drivers."

PROBE RAILROAD WRECK IN NEW YORK STATE

Rear-End Crash Cause Unknown

Brakeman Is Killed And 35
Others Are Injured
In Wreck

CRACK TRAINS MEET AT STATION

(International News Service)
CRUGERS, N. Y., Sept. 1.—Police and New York Central Railroad detectives today were investigating the crash of two crack trains here late last night which resulted in the death of one person and injuries to 35 others.

The Montrealer, fast New York to Montreal express, crashed into the rear of a train bound for Lake Placid directly in front of the local station shortly before midnight.

Brakeman Killed

James J. Tracy of Brooklyn, a brakeman, was killed. He is said to have been riding on the rear platform of the Lake Placid train.

Many of the passengers in the sleeping cars of the two trains were thrown from their berths and cut and bruised. Most of their injuries resulted from flying glass from broken windows.

Michael Cummings, engineer of the second train, received only bruises from the crash, it was reported, although his engine was derailed in the impact.

There were many conflicting stories as to what caused the wreck. One report blamed it on an open switch, but this was immediately denied by railroad men. Another story attributed the crash to a dense fog which lay over the metropolitan area.

Florida's Good Law.
How Does Russia Do It?
Mr. Sinclair's Book.
They Still Bootleg.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

FLORIDA WILL SOON vote on a matter important to her and other states, namely, on the suggestion to exempt from taxation all homes up to $5,000 in value.

Col. Frank E. Shutt, whose newspaper, The Miami Herald, supports the $5,000 tax exemption law, passing through New York yesterday, said he believed that Florida taxpayers would approve the law.

This writer has frequently recommended such a law on the ground that fathers and mothers should not be taxed for raising a family; that they should at least have a roof over their heads and a small piece of ground that no collection could take from them.

THE $5,000 HOMESTEAD tax exemption law will increase enormously Florida's prosperity by bringing more population, more spending power. Florida could easily support fifty millions of people and large Florida property owners who would object to the homestead law should realize that it would greatly increase Florida real estate values. When you have more people spending more money, land is worth more.

IT IS UNDERSTOOD that government enforcement, by the United States Treasury will no longer spend half its time to keep its men busy fighting small moonshiners, operating only within a few miles of their ten or fifteen-gallon stills. It will devote its energies to "big bootleggers" operating all over the country.

It seems to have caught one of the "big ones" far from the southern moonshine regions. On a farm near Millwood, Long Island, a still was found with a capacity of 25,000 gallons a day. Undisturbed, such a still would be profitable. Whisky, tax free, costs the maker fifteen to twenty cents a gallon. A bootlegger can sell it, even with a "dead cut" for "protection" at $5 a gallon.

IT WILL BE hard to kill an industry so exceptionally perfected, but the Treasury means to do it. If the law punishes the buyer of illegal whisky, as well as the seller, that might help.

THIS SATURDAY 500,000 textile workers will go out on strike, according to Mr. Gorham, chairman of the strike committee, and unions expect the government to "feed and finance" the strikers in accordance with the government promise to "let no man starve."

That might be a long strike, calling for a good deal of public money.

IF ONLY THE government would pay these bills with freshly printed money, instead of insisting on issuing flat, inflated government bonds that bear interest and double the cost. A government bond on yellow paper isn't worth one-millionth of a cent more than an ordinary greenback, since gold is no more.

located are tax free, churches built to save souls are tax free, as they should be.

The small homes in which the children and souls are produced and protected should be tax free also. A father and mother should be able to say to each other and to the children:

"At least this roof, this house, this little piece of earth are ours and forever, free from any tax-collector's grip."

ALL THE REAL state advertising ever written would not be worth to Florida one-tenth as much as the simple statement:

"Invest $5,000 in a Florida home, and live, free of taxation forever."

Florida for good reason should remember that it would also mean:

"Come to Florida to spend your income."

WILL ROGERS, stopping over in Moscow, amazed, sends this message to various Hearst newspapers:

"Writers are Russia's richest people. Maxim Gorky's royalties last year were seven million rubles. I am trying to learn to write Russian."

Mr. Rogers, who does not lack business sense, might enjoy writing in Russian more than being paid in Russian rubles.

APART FROM THAT, how do you suppose Russia manages her affairs so well that Rogers thinks:

"I never saw so many buildings going up in my life."

Not only has Russia no unemployed, but everybody, man or woman, able to work is compelled to work. Nobody is paid by government to "go through the motions" of working, standing by the roadside pulling up one weed every five minutes, or listlessly swinging a broom where no sweeping is needed.

IN RUSSIA they don't plough any cotton under; on the contrary they are planning, as are England and other countries, to produce more cotton than ever, in order to seize the foreign cotton trade that this country must relinquish under "regulated prices" and diminished crops.

Russia, far from drowning thousands of "little unborn pigs" with their "farrow sow" mothers, saves and raises and fattens every little pig, lavishing tender care on every pig mother.

Do you suppose those "Russian Bolsheviks" could by any chance have some plan better than our "new era" plan? Perish the thought, but could it be possible?

THOSE WHO EXPECT to vote for Upton Sinclair, nominated by the Democrats for Governor of California, will be interested in this paragraph from his book, called "The Governor of California," in which Mr. Sinclair maps out his course, if and when, elected Governor. Announcing his intention to pardon Thomas Mooney, sentenced to life imprisonment on conviction of throwing bombs, killing men and women marching in the San Francisco preparedness parade, Upton Sinclair writes of himself:

"Immediately after having taken the oath of office, he (Sinclair) stepped to the microphone and said: 'As Governor of California my first action is to sign a pardon to Thomas J. Mooney. At this time I offer to him my profound apologies for the injustice which the state of California has done to him for the past eighteen years.'

CRACK TRAINS MEET AT STATION

CRUGERS, N. Y., Sept. 1.— Police and New York Central Railroad detectives today were investigating the crash of two crack trains here late last night which resulted in the death of one person and injuries to 35 others.

The Montrealer, fast New York to the rear of a train bound for Lake Placid directly in front of the local station shortly before midnight.

Brakeman Killed

James J. Tracy of Brooklyn, a brakeman, was killed. He is said to have been riding on the rear platform of the Lake Placid train.

Many of the passengers in the sleeping cars of the two trains were thrown from their berths and cut and bruised. Most of their injuries resulted from flying glass from broken windows.

Michael Cummings, engineer of the second train, received only bruises from the crash, it was reported, although his engine was derailed in the impact.

There were many conflicting stories as to what caused the wreck. One report blamed it on an open switch, but this was immediately denied by railroad men. Another story attributed the crash to a dense fog which lay over the metropolitan area.

FLORIDA WILL SOON vote on a matter important to her and other states, namely, on the suggestion to exempt from taxation all homes up to $5,000 in value.

Col. Frank B. Shultz, whose newspaper, The Miami Herald, supports the $5,000 tax exemption law, passing through New York yesterday, said he believed that Florida taxpayers would approve the law.

This writer has frequently recommended such a law on the ground that fathers and mothers should not be taxed for raising a family; that they should at least have a roof over their heads and a small piece of ground that no collection could take from them.

THE $5,000 HOMESTEAD tax exemption law will increase enormously Florida's prosperity by bringing more population, more spending power. Florida could easily support fifty millions of people and large Florida property owners who would object to the homestead law should realize that it would greatly increase Florida real estate values. When you have more people spending more money, land is worth more.

FIVE YEARS after passing the tax exemption law, Florida would find real estate values doubled, and Florida's prosperity greatly increased, with other states imitating Florida. Schools where children are educated inated are tax free, churches built to save souls are tax free, as they should be.

The small homes in which the children and souls are produced and protected should be tax free also. A father and mother should be able to say to each other and to the children:

"At least this roof, this house, this little piece of earth are ours and forever, free from any tax collector's grip."

ALL THE REAL state advertising ever written would not be worth to Florida one-tenth as much as the simple statement:

"Invest $5,000 in a Florida home, and live, free of taxation forever."

Florida for good reason should remember that it would also mean:

"Come to Florida to spend your income."

WILL ROGERS, stopping over in Moscow, amazed, sends this message to various Hearst newspapers:

"Writers are Russia's richest people. Maxim Gorky's royalties last year were seven million rubles. I am trying to learn to write Russian."

Mr. Rogers, who does not lack business sense, might enjoy writing in Russian more than being paid in Russian rubles.

APART FROM THAT, how do you suppose Russia manages her affairs so well that Rogers reports:

"I never saw so many buildings going up in my life!"

Not only has Russia no unemployed, but everybody, man or woman, able to work is compelled to work. Nobody is paid by government to "go through the motions" of working, standing by the roadside, pulling up one weed every five minutes, or idly swinging a broom where no sweeping is needed.

IN RUSSIA they don't plough any cotton under; on the contrary they are planning, as are England and other countries, to produce more cotton than ever, in order to seize the foreign cotton trade that this country must relinquish under "regulated prices" and diminished crops.

Russia, far from drowning thousands of "little unborn pigs" with their "farrow sow" mothers, saves and raises and fattens every little pig, lavishing tender care on every pig mother.

Do you suppose those "Russian Bolsheviks" could by any chance have some plan better than our "new era" plan? Perish the thought, but could it be possible?

THOSE WHO EXPECT to vote for Upton Sinclair, nominated by the Democrats for Governor of California, will be interested in this paragraph from his book, called "I, Governor of California," in which Mr. Sinclair maps out his course, if, and when, elected Governor. Announcing his intention to pardon Thomas Mooney, sentenced to life imprisonment on conviction of throwing bombs, killing men and women marching in the San Francisco preparedness parade, Upton Sinclair writes of himself:

"Immediately after having taken the oath of office, he [Sinclair] stepped to the microphone and said: 'As Governor of California my first action is to sign a pardon to Thomas J. Mooney. At this time I offer to him my profound apologies for the injustice which the state of California has done to him for the past eighteen years!'"

THAT IS EXACTLY what Mr. Sinclair, if elected Governor should do and say, if the State of California has done Mooney injustice for the past eighteen years. If, however, Mr. Sinclair is not absolutely sure that the five California Governors preceding him were wrong in refusing to pardon Mooney, he should act with deliberation. To condemn "justice" too lightly would be unwise, even in this new era.

IT IS UNDERSTOOD that government enforcement, by the United States Treasury will no longer spend half its time to keep half its men busy fighting small moonshiners, operating only within a few miles of their ten or fifteen-gallon stills. It will devote its energies to "big bootleggers" operating all over the country.

It seems to have caught one of the "big ones" far from the southern moonshine regions. On a farm near Millwood, Long Island, a still was found with a capacity of 25,000 gallons a day. Undisturbed, such a still would be profitable. Whisky, tax free, costs the maker fifteen to twenty cents a gallon. A bootlegger can sell it, even with a deep "cut" for "protection" at $5 a gallon.

IT WILL BE hard to kill an industry so exceptionally perfected, but the Treasury means to do it. If the law punished the buyer of illegal whisky, as well as the seller, that might help.

THIS SATURDAY 500,000 textile workers will go out on strike, according to Mr. Gorman, chairman of the strike committee, and unions expect the government to "feed and finance" the strikers in accordance with the government promise to "let no man starve."

That might be a long strike, calling for a good deal of public money.

IF ONLY THE government would pay these bills with freshly printed money, instead of insisting on issuing flat, inflated government bonds that bear interest and double the cost. A government bond on yellow paper isn't worth one-million of a cent more than an ordinary greenback, since gold is no more.

Kay New Champ At Field Club

Wins Title From Bill Long After Gruelling 36-Hole Match

PLAYS STEADY GAME TO TRIUMPH

Charles Kay came from behind yesterday to defeat Bill Long for the New Castle Field Club champion ship after being one down in the first 18 holes played on Thursday, and was one up on his opponent, gaining the advantage on the 35th hole, and held it by halving the last hole to take the title.

The match was a pretty one throughout, and was followed by a large gallery of golf fans and backers of the two players. First one player and then the other would forge ahead, but the lead between them was never greater than two holes.

Kay crept a little nearer to Par yesterday, when he shot the course in 77, four over the mark, while Long's score was the same as the day previous, 79.

Starting out yesterday, both players parred the first hole. Kay evened the match, when he parred the difficult No. 2 hole, while Long was one over. They continued even until the 23rd hole, when Long again went one over the par mark as Kay played the hole perfectly, to gain the advantage. Long came right back, however, and took 24 and 25, and was again one up. Long birdied the No. 8 hole in forging ahead.

At the end of the 27 holes, however, they were even again, and Kay went ahead on the next only to have Long even the match on the 31st hole. The two boys played even until the 35th hole, when Kay got a stroke advantage, putting him in the lead. Both were one over par on the 36th hole, which they halved, giving Kay the match and title.

It was a pretty match to watch, and the gallery enjoyed watching the two plucky youngsters as they battled desperately for the club title.

Kay, the winner, was one of the mainstays on the Carnegie Tech golf team last spring, where he shot a consistent game, to win many points for his school.

The score on the final eighteen holes, was as follows:

Par-out 435 454 354—37

In 444 345 454—36

Kay-out 343 555 354—38

Long-out 444 555 345—39

Kay-in 444 445 545—39

Long-in 544 345 555—40

The totals for the match were:

Kay, 80-77-157; Long, 79-79-158.

Riding One Sea more Yankee would have been on even terms and Two Seas would have put her across the finish line a second ahead. In that fifteen mile run down the wind Yankee closed a gap of one minute, thirty five seconds to a single second, and it was a glorious effort for Charles Francis Adams, her skipper even though the hope of the hub did lose.

Unions Defeat Scarazzos, 10-0

Capture Third Game Of Series Due To J. Fair's Pitching

SCARAZZOS HAVE WON TWO GAMES

Unions defeated Scarazzos 10 to 0, at Centennial field yesterday in the third of the five game series for the championship of the American Softball league.

It was the first game of the three played that the Unions won, the Scarazzos outfit having taken the first two tilts and had they won yesterday they would have won the title.

J. Fair pitched for the Unions. He was in fine form. He allowed the Scarazzos only two hits while Bartlett was touched up for 10 hits and the Scarazzos could not get started with the willow.

Unions launched a vicious batting attack in the first frame and before the side had been retired they had chalked up seven runs. In addition A. Pezone and A. Ritchie bunted in home runs and others hit for extra bases.

Eighty Nine Of World's Best Tennis Players Seek American Laurels

(International News Service)

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 1.—Paced by Fred Perry, defending titholder and world's champion, eighty nine of the leading players of this country, England, Canada, South Africa and Czechoslovakia start in quest of the American tennis championship at Forest Hills this afternoon.

Not in many years has the defense of the United States crowns seemed so difficult a task as the assignment which confronts the British Davis cup ace. At least half a dozen of the American stars are conceded good chances of beating the cocky Englishman in the singles crown, in addition to Roderick Menzel, the lone Czech entry.

THE SPORT PATROL

By JOHN J. MAKER, JR.

TOO MUCH PRESSURE
Many of the baseball fans have gone into mourning since Schoolboy Rowe flunked his test. Some even go as far to say that the Athletics should have been lenient and passed him. Others claim Professor Cochrane ought to have made the examination a little easier.

However, neither of these methods have any place in baseball. Wood, Johnson, and Grove all worked even harder than Rowe for their 16 straight. We'll all admit Lynwood is a great pitcher but he isn't in his first full season, at 22 years of age, the equal of the three former stars in their prime.

So perhaps there is some justice in the defeat after all. There is no reason why great stars like Johnson, Wood, and Grove should be deprived of the record while a 22 year old rookie is handed the feat on a platter.

The Tigers and Rowe, himself, will work better since the winning streak has been broken. In all branches of sport, whether individual or as a team, the tension of consecutive victories finally cracks the participants.

Certainly, the Tigers looked like anything but a champion outfit in their doubleheader at Philadelphia last Wednesday. They made more errors and mistakes than a hod carrier does with a violin. The strain caused by the desperate desire to win for Rowe was becoming noticeable.

Such a strain often causes even a veteran team to crack. A young outfit like the Tigers, though, is even more susceptible. Greenberg, Owen, Fox, White, Bridges, Fisher, Auker, and Rowe, all the regulars but six, are youngsters who have yet to experience a hectic pennant fight.

And Rowe himself is probably better off that the string has been broken. Relieved of the pressure, he can concentrate on winning for the Tigers instead of a record for Schoolboy.

The Tigers flag fight was really becoming secondary to Rowe's pitching record. Those 34,000 Philly fans who made up the largest crowd in the history of Shibe Park didn't come to see the Detroit Tigers. They came to see the El Dorado boy do something of their own Lefty Grove for Schoolboy.

The Tigers can now concentrate all their attention on winning the pennant, still a tough job. When and if they do that, they can try to figure a way to stop the Giants in the World Series, an even tougher job.

But the task has been made lighter with Schoolboy's defeat. When Rowe pitched, he realized the other team was intent on breaking his streak. He had to bear down on every pitch for fear his mates could not give him a substantial lead. Mentally and physically, this is a handicap, especially to a pitcher with a sore-arm complex.

And every time a Bengal came to bat, he was over anxious. It was up to him to do his share in continuing the young star's consecutive wins. This, over a period of a couple of months, was bound to affect the team and the fielders were affected as the batters were.

So the result was that the Tigers were beginning to play ball like a Ford goes over a dirt road. At least last Wednesday, Rowe must have been hurling golf balls, the fielders appeared to be playing volley ball, and the batters when up against Johnny Marcum, looked as though they were swatting flies with a feather duster.

These courses we offered with two main objectives: the training of new people for the commercial field and to review or add to the knowledge and skill of those employed in this work.

In addition to these two groups is another group outside the commercial field who have a need for a knowledge of some special subject along this line.

This work will carry full high school credit and can be used by anyone needing credits toward a high school diploma. Beginning and advanced courses are to be given in shorthand, Typewriting, and Bookkeeping to take care of the students who have had at some previous time work in these subjects. Shorthand, Typing IB and 2A, and Bookkeeping 3 and 2A will be given so that the students of last year can finish the work and still take care of any new students who might be interested. The course in Business English is designed to assist those people in commercial work and to act as a review for the great number of people who have probably forgotten a bit of their grammar.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

Letters Intended For This Column Must Be Signed With Name And Address Of Writer.

REPEAL FROM THE MOTHERS VIEW-POINT.

Editor News:

That repeat of the 18th amendment has added to the mothers anxious fears for her children, there can be no question.

I do not doubt that a father's affection, and devotion are just as deeply involved, but I speak from practical experience of a mother's hopes and fears.

Is it any wonder that mothers want their children safeguarded?

That we doubt the wisdom, the philosophy of repeal? And now, can we drink ourselves into prosperity? If so, who pays the final cost?

Will it be my child, who after a few drinks of beer, or a couple of high-balls commits murder on the public highway? Or will it be your little daughter who becomes the victim of the so-called moral degenerate. He too, was once an innocent child, care of some mothers heart.

But passions God-given have been fanned into dangerous flames by that "one little drink." We know who paid the penalty, but at whose door lay the guilt for the crime?

And in all the world, is there any sane, reasoning person who thinks that repeat has promoted temperance?

If so, where are your proofs?

Have accidents caused by intemperance decreased? If we take Ex-Governor Smith's advice, and look up the record, we will find them greatly increased. Has repeal lessened the forces of evil? Has its influence helped to purify, and cleanse the movies? Has it increased respect for the Sabbath? Has it curbed the rising tide of immorality? We know that it has not.

Though we cannot perhaps point the way for mothers, the fundamental issue is plain. We need men and women, in public and in private life, who pay what liquor, that William Lloyd Garrison said of slavery. "On this subject I do not write or speak with moderation. I will not equivocate—I will not excuse—I will not retreat one inch—and I will be heard."

Commissioners Are Back From State Meeting

Find Officials Of State In Favor Of Counties Handling Relief Funds

work, Anderson said that it would be necessary to take care of them, but that they will be given food orders instead of cash.

John E. Ritchey of Venango county, charged that the administration of relief had been taken out of the hands of Poor Directors, elected by the people to look after it, and had been placed in the hands of "big shot" politicians, resulting in discrimination in the disbursement of funds. Ritchey charged that in his county a swimming pool costing $100,000 had been erected so far from town that only people with automobiles could get to it, while projects asked for in the city and county were not approved.

Joseph A. McElhaney, also of Venango county, charged that all efforts to have an investigation had been fruitless. The investigators appointed, he said, are impositions, and described one that came into his office as a gum chewing flapper that drives around in a sport roadster with six headlights.

T. F. Hungryville of McKean county charged that the way relief was being administered in his county could be better illustrated in a class of political brigandage, and unless it is changed it is doomed to failure.

Helein M. Schuraffi, the only female county commissioner in the state, said there are 57,000 on relief in her county. There are surplus potatoes being shipped in from Alabama, while the farmers of Erie country are compelled to sit back and look on.

Practically all the commissioners had fault to find with the way relief is being administered by the state, and favored its being handled by the regularly elected officials in each county.

DEMONSTRATION IS STAGED BY STUDENTS

International News Service

At noon today County Detective A. Sharp Leslie filed an information before Alderman O. H. P. Green, charging Sam De Felice with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and failure to stop and render assistance. The charge arises out of a crash on Pearson street a week ago when five small girls were sent to the hospital.

De Felice was arrested by city police and an information made against him in Green's office, but the charges were later withdrawn upon De Felice's agreement to pay the damages in the case. District Attorney Mont L. Alley then ordered an investigation of the case and the information today followed.

Stock Market Shows Apathy

Price Changes Are Negligible In Trading Before Holiday

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—The stock market lapsed into complete apathy today with volume tapering off to the point where the ticker was a standstill during most of the situation.

Price changes were negligible and the lack of volume robbed them of whatever significance they might have possessed.

The dullness was given more accentuated than is usual in a pre-holiday session, and appeared to be due to the unwillingness of traders to commit themselves on either side of the market, which is to be closed tomorrow and Monday, with all the current uncertainty. The trading element apparently was content to stay on the side lines pending some further news of the textile strike which is due to go into effect this evening, and the announcement from the treasury on the new financing.

Many of the leading issues in the list including U. S. Steel failed to appear on the tape during the first half of the 2-hour session. American Can opened half a point higher at 104.

Simmons Bed was one of the features in the dull trading opened at 10, off a fraction reflecting the company's loss of the litigation between it and the receivers for the Berkley Gay Co.

In the railroad division there was almost a complete absence of activity once the opening sales had been completed. Atchison, New York Central, Lackawanna and Baltimore and Ohio were lower.

Commissioners Are Back From State Meeting

Find Officials Of State In Favor Of Counties Handling Relief Funds

SAY POLITICIANS HAVE USURPED POWER

County Commissioners A. E. Conner and P. O. Elder, who returned from the County Commissioners State convention held at Pittsville last night, report that the convention was one of the best ever held by the organization. Various relief measures were the principal topics of discussion. It was the consensus of opinion that relief problems can best be handled by residents of the various counties who are familiar with conditions. A resolution to that effect was passed by the convention and look on.

The spotlight of the opening session was focused on Edmund T. Anderson, field representative of the State Emergency Relief board, in charge of ten counties. He was substituted as speaker in the absence of Eric H. Biddle, state director. Anderson talked on the "Winter Program" of the relief board and the new arrangement that will go with it to alleviate conditions that have been a bone of contention.

Several commissioners subsequently took the floor and claimed that they found conditions just the opposite to those that had been claimed by the board. They scored political activities in connection with relief boards, and lack of co-operation upon the part of officials. Under the new program that will be inaugurated Sept. 15, Anderson pointed out that it was planned to provide work for every man who wants to work. The new program is now being prepared by the Budget Division. Cash, instead of food orders, under the new setup.

Referring to people who won't work, Anderson said that it would be necessary to take care of them, but that they will be given food orders instead of cash.

John E. Ritchey of Venango county, charged that the administration of relief had been taken out of the hands of Poor Directors, elected by the people to look after it, and had been placed in the hands of "big shot" politicians, resulting in discrimination in the disbursement of funds. Ritchey charged that in his county a swimming pool costing $100,000 had been erected so far from town that only people with automobiles could get to it, while projects asked for in the city and county were not approved.

Joseph A. McElhaney, also of Venango county, charged that all efforts to have an investigation had been fruitless. The investigators appointed, he said, are impostors, and described one that came into his office as a gum chewing flapper that drives around in a sport roadster with six headlights.

T. F. Hungville of McKean county charged that the way relief was being administered in his county could be better illustrated in a class of political brigandage, and unless it is changed it is doomed to failure. Helen M. Schluraft, the only female county commissioner in the state, said there are 57,000 on relief in her county. There are surplus products being shipped in from Alabama, while the farmers of Erie country are compelled to sit back and look on.

Practically all the commissioners had fault to find with the way relief was being administered by the state, and favored its being handled by the regularly elected officials in each county.

Price Changes Are Negligible In Trading Before Holiday

(International News Service)

NEW YORK. Sept. 1.—The stock market lapsed into complete apathy today with volume tapering off to the point where the ticker was a standstill during most of the situation.

Price changes were negligible and the lack of volume robbed them of whatever significance they might have possessed.

The dullness was given more accentuated than is usual in a pre-holiday session, and appeared to be due to the unwillingness of traders to commit themselves on either side of the market, which is to be closed tomorrow and Monday, with all the current uncertainty. The trading element apparently was content to stay on the side lines pending some further news of the textile strike which is due to go into effect this evening, and the announcement from the treasury on the new financing.

Many of the leading issues in the list including U. S. Steel failed to appear on the tape during the first half of the 2-hour session. American Can opened half a point higher at 10.40.

Simmons Bed was one of the features in the dull trading opened at 10, off a fraction reflecting the company's loss of the litigation between it and the receivers for the Berkley Gay Co.

In the railroad division there was almost a complete absence of activity once the opening sales had been completed. Atchison, New York Central, Lackawanna and Baltimore and Ohio were lower.

REPEAL FROM THE MOTHERS VIEW-POINT.

Editor News:

That repeal of the 18th amendment has added to the mothers anxious fears for her children, there can be no question.

I do not doubt that a father's affection and devotion are just as deeply involved, but I speak from practical experience of a mother's hopes and fears.

Is it any wonder that mothers want their children safeguarded?

That we doubt the wisdom, the philosophy of repeal? And now, can we drink ourselves into prosperity? If so, who pays the final cost?

Will it be my child, who after a few drinks of beer, or a couple of highballs commits murder on the public highway? Or will it be your little daughter who becomes the victim of the so-called moral degenerate. He too, was once an innocent child, core of some mothers heart.

But passions God-given have been fanned into dangerous flames by that "one little drink." We know who paid the penalty, but at whose door lay the guilt for the crime?

And in all the world, is there any sane, reasoning person who thinks that repeal has promoted temperance?

If so, where are your proofs? Have accidents caused by intoxication decreased? If we take Ex-Governor Smith's advice, and look up the record, we will find them greatly increased. Has repeal lessened the forces of evil? Has its influence helped to purify, and cleanse the movies? Has it increased respect for the Sabbath? Has it curbed the rising tide of immorality? We know that it has not.

Though we cannot perhaps point the way for mothers, the fundamental issue is plain. We need men and women, in public and in private life, who will say of liquor, that William Lloyd Garrison said of slavery, "On this subject I do not write or speak with moderation. I will not equivocate—I will not excuse—I will not retreat one inch—and I will be heard."

Razing Of Hospital Recalls Charity Ball

Decision of the directors of the Jameson Memorial hospital to tear down the old Shenango Valley hospital built in 1883, and dedicated March 13, 1894, recalls to mind the big charity ball which was an event on April 9, 1894, to raise money for the hospital.

An interesting account of the ball and reception was published in the old Courant Guardian of April 22, 1894, a clipping from which was saved by Mrs. James K. Pollock, widow of the late Dr. J. K. Pollock, and which is presented herewith.

It is interesting to note that the price of admission to the ball was $5. The total amount raised was $1,256.10, which was no small sum of money in those days.

The names of many of New Castle's leading citizens will be found listed on the committee and among the solicitors.

The story of this big social event follows:

Through the courtesy of the committee who had charge of the charity ball which was given for the benefit of the Shenango Valley hospital in Masonic hall on the evening of the 9th of April, the "Courant-Guardian" has obtained the entire proceedings of that committee. The amount of money raised, all of which is given in the report made by the committee, was as follows:

To the President and Directors of the Shenango Valley hospital, I append herewith statement of the Charity Ball given for the benefit of the hospital April 9, 1894. New Castle, Pa., April 16, 1894. On March 20 the directors of the hospital found their resources about $700 in arrears and accordingly called a meeting of a number of gentlemen who have heretofore taken an interest in the affairs of the institution, to be held at the office of Walter D. Clark on March 12, 1894. The meeting was called to order by the election of John C. Wallace as chairman and Frank Tidball as secretary. Director E. I. Phillips explained the object of the meeting as above stated and said the hospital must have $700. After considerable discussion it was decided to give a charity ball provided the Masonic rooms could be secured for this purpose.

Razing Of Hospital Recalls Charity Ball

Decision of the directors of the Jameson Memorial hospital to tear down the old Shenango Valley hospital, built in 1893, and dedicated March 12, 1894, recalls to mind the big charity ball which was an event on April 9, 1896, to raise money for the hospital.

An interesting account of the ball and reception was published in the old Courant-Guardian of April 22, 1896, a clipping from which was saved by Mrs. James K. Pollock, widow of the late Dr. J. K. Pollock, and which is presented herewith.

It is interesting to note that the price of admission to the ball was $5. The total amount raised was $1,256.10, which was no small sum of money in those days.

The names of many of New Castle's outstanding citizens will be found listed on the committee and among the solicitors.

The story of this big social event follows:

"Through the courtesy of the committee who had charge of the charity ball which was given for the benefit of the Shenango Valley hospital in Masonic hall on the evening of the 9th of April, the 'Courant-Guardian' has obtained the entire proceedings of that committee. The amount of money raised, all of which is given in the report made by the committee, was as follows:

"To the President and Directors of the Shenango Valley hospital. I append herewith statement of the Charity Ball given for the benefit of the hospital April 9, 1896, New Castle, Pa., April 16, 1896. On March 10 the directors of the hospital found their resources about $700 in arrears and accordingly called a meeting of a number of gentlemen who have heretofore taken an interest in the affairs of the institution, to be held at the office of Walter D. Clark on March 12, 1896. The meeting was called to order by the election of John C. Wallace as chairman and Frank Tidball as secretary, in the absence of Fred Tidball. Horace G. Miller acted as secretary.

Director E. I. Phillips explained the object of the meetings as above stated and said the hospital must have $700. After considerable discussion it was decided to give a charity ball provided the Masonic rooms could be secured for this purpose, and a committee was appointed to make an investigation and report at a meeting to be held on the 14th inst. The following executive committee was appointed: John C. Wallace, James N. Fallis, Horace G. Miller, Joseph A. Fleckenstein, David Dickey, John W. Keast, E. I. Phillips, Frank G. Blackford, Frank Tidball. Pursuant to adjournment the committee met on the 14th at the office of W. D. Clark and the sub-committee reported that the Masonic rooms could be had for this purpose, when it was decided to give a charity ball for the benefit of the hospital and $5.00 was the price decided upon for tickets. Horace G. Miller was elected secretary and treasurer and all the sub-committees to arrange the details were appointed, together with a soliciting committee whose names will appear in the report. We think the most important of all these committees was the one of which E. I. Phillips was the chairman ex-officio.

As the report will show, the ladies did nobly and I know they have the hearty thanks of the committee as well as the directors of the Shenango Valley hospital. The committee met almost daily until the date of the reception, April 9. The newspapers were very kind in publishing everything pertaining to the benefit and the general public have the thanks of the committee for responding so generously. Below will be found different solicitors to gather with an itemized statement of the expenses, etc. The names of those purchasing tickets have already been published. Below will be found the individual work of the different solicitors and itemized list of the expenses. Receipts—J. N. Fallis $42.50, John C. Wallace, $70, Edwin C. Wilson $59, David Dickey $75, Fred Wilder $10, Charles Stapp $5, F. G. Blackford $15, Ollie Moore $10, E. N. Ohl $50, Rev. J. F. Gallagher $10, John V. Traver $60.25, Frank Tidball $5, John W. Keast $140, John Elder, Jr., $10, George L. Patterson $70, John R. Patterson $30, Horace G. Miller $45, John Ely $45, W. H. McBride $45, James Gunning $37, W. J. Erose $5, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gibson, North Liberty street.

A regular club meeting will take place Thursday, September 20, at the home of Mrs. Frank Gibson, North Liberty street.
